Aside from the speakers now in the field, Mrs. E. H. Russell, until recently state lecturer of Illinois, will commence work under the auspices of the lodge in the northern section of the city. ## The Art Sale.

The sale of Mr. Johnson's gallery of pictures commences to-day, Mr. Dowling, the well-known auctioneer, conducting the sale. These pictures were briefly noticed in yesterday's REPUBLICAN. Over 100 of them have been on exhibition for the past few days, and the exhibition rooms have been crowded during the hours when inspection was permitted. Several thousands of persons have visited the rooms where the paintings were exhibited, including a number of artists and art critics, and the one general expression was that of approval. Out of the total number of pictures in this collection, it cannot be said that more than two or three are of ordinary merit, while all the rest are decidedly superior. Some of them are of very high merit, and under ordinary circumstances would not sell for less than several thousand dollars each. Some of them are especially fine, and probably no other opportunity will present itself in this city of purchasing the like. The sale will continue for several days.

In Honor of His Niece.

A complimentary dinner was given last night at the Maison Doree by Mr. August Brentano, the stationer and bookseller, to his employees. The happy event was in honor of the marriage of his niece, Miss Thekla Brentano, to Mr. Solomon Guenther, at Evansville, Ind. The wedding was attended by his nephew, Mr. Simon Brentano, of this city, and Mr. August Brentano, of New York. Among the gentlemen present last evening were Messrs. August Brentano, Jr., Joseph W. Walter, August E. Eckle, Henry Herbert, Walter E. Withers, T. St. Clair De Guerin, Charles W. Wood, Lawrence V. O'Toole, and Schell H. Stutzman. The menu was elaborate and tasteful.

The Christian Church Reception.

Temperance in the Northeast.

At the Northeast Temperance hall last evening Maj. Holden addressed a large audience in a eloquent appeal. At the meeting on to-morrow night Maj. Holden will be assisted by Mr. Charles Nye. A well-trained choir makes the music of these meetings an attractive feature.

"No. 1" Lectures in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Mr. F. J. Sheridan, the alleged "No. 1" of the inviolable, lectured here last night. The room was crowded and the speaker met with the most enthusiastic reception. There was a programme of song and recitation in connection with the address. Mr. Sheridan made no incendiary remarks, except by implication; such as, that he believed "in the use of the resources of Ireland, the right of the people to freedom of Ireland. The men were not lions were guarded in phraseology, but there was much meaning 'between the lines.' Among them was the following: 'The Irish people being the sufferers, and Ireland the nation against which the great crimes had been committed, the Irish people were the best judges of the means to the end.' The Redmond brothers, returning to Ireland from Australia, held largely attended receptions at one of the leading hotels last night.

CATHOLICISM IN THE ARMY.

What Bishop Simpson Said at a Mass Meeting of Methodists in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 22.—A ladies' mass meeting in the interests of the observance of the centennial of American methodism was held to-day at the First M. E. church, Charles and Fayette streets. There was a large attendance of ladies not only from the various Methodist Episcopal churches of Baltimore, but from all sections of the Baltimore conference. There were also a number of clergymen present, including Bishop Simpson, Bishop Andrews, Bishop Wilson, of the M. E. Church South. Rev. Dr. Goucher spoke of the wonderful growth of Methodism in Maryland, where one out of every four persons on the city of Baltimore and one-third of the residents of the state worship under the auspices of the church. This time had come, he said, to found an institution for the higher education of the women of the conference, who, up to this time, had to resort to non-sectarian and even to Roman Catholic educational establishments. That was one of the objects of the meeting, and the ladies were deeply interested in the project. He thought it would require $200,000, and various methods had been suggested to raise the money.

Bishop Simpson and Andrews next addressed the meeting, earnestly advocating the establishment of such an institution.

Bishop Simpson said educated women exert the greatest influence on the age, and they have had none of their best of character. Their power is on the increase, and it is almost incredible to look at what has been accomplished of late years by the pen and the voice of women. Woman is coming to the front even in the professions, and it is our duty not to be behind in the advancement of the education of woman. The Roman Catholic church has devoted particular attention to the higher female education, and in this way they have come to exert quite an influence over the army of the United States. There is an academy at Georgetown, near Washington, and the young army officers, coming in contact with the young ladies, fall under their influence and marry them. In this way the army has been largely supplied with Catholicism. Bishop Andrews said the project you have is a good one, but you should not be satisfied with $200,000. You do not want any weak, puny seminary. You should have here in Baltimore a grand, noble, and important institution, with an equipment equal to that of any other in the country. Let it be an institution which young ladies shall be proud to attend, and which shall exert an influence over the whole country.

After the address resolutions were adopted endorsing the project, and requesting the conference in its arrangement for commemorating the centennial of the organization of the Methodist Episcopal church to give pre-eminence to the founding and endowing of such a female seminary. In accordance with the spirit of this resolution, an organization was formed to be known as the Female Education Aid association.

MASS FOR O'DONNELL.

A Coffin Placed in the Family Burying Plot—Americans and Victor Hugo Thanked.

DUBLIN, Jan. 22.—An immense concourse of peasantry assembled to-day at Derrbegg, county Donegal, the birthplace of Patrick O'Donnell, slayer of Jas. Carey, and assisted in the celebration of a mass for the repose of the soul of O'Donnell. After the mass a mock funeral was held and a coffin was placed in the O'Donnell burying plot, the people kneeling in prayer around the grave. Wreaths of immortelles were placed on the coffin, upon which was the inscription:

Sacred to the memory of Patrick O'Donnell, executed at London, Seventeenth of December, 1863.

Thirty-five pounds sterling were subscribed toward a fund to erect a monument to O'Donnell. A resolution was passed thanking Americans for their assistance, and Mr. Victor Hugo for his advocacy of the cause of Ireland.

The insurance is $122,600 in British and Canadian companies and $43,900 in American companies. The cause of the fire is not known. The refinery was damaged to the extent of $10,000; insurance sufficient to cover loss. The origin of the fire is unknown. The men were at work when the fire broke. About 150 operatives are thrown out of employment.

Prof. Muller on Henry George's Theories.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Prof. Max Muller, in a lecture delivered before the Midland institute of Birmingham to-day, protested against the outcry that had been made that Henry George's theories are dangerous. He said they should be historically considered without passion and their value ascertained. The most liberal thinkers, he declared, are not likely to accept the theory of the divine right of every man to a portion of the earth, or of the sinfulness of a man calling land his own for which he has labored.

They Are Not Insubordinate.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 22.—Several weeks since a report was circulated, showing a spirit of insubordination and rudeness of the students at Davidson college, Mecklenburg county, this state, to the damage of that institution.
